Oracle Autonomous Database is a fully managed cloud service. It runs on Oracle Exadata Database Machine, one of the most powerful and reliable platforms for running Oracle databases. Oracle Exadata is specifically designed and tuned to run Oracle Database for high-performance, high-availability workloads. It is self-driving, self-securing, and self-repairing, which:

- Eliminates routine, manual database management
- Enhances data security
- Automatically detects and applies corrective actions to ensure the highest possible levels of availability

Once deployed, the database will manage itself, freeing up valuable resources for strategic business tasks (that add incremental value) such as data modeling and analytics.

take database cloud to the next level with centroid

Centroid's delivery service takes autonomous from concept to reality with our practical migration plan for your on-premises data warehouse to the Oracle Autonomous Data Warehouse Cloud (ADWS).

Our methodology and toolsets have been developed thanks to our decades of experience with database and data warehouse technologies, giving you all the benefits without any the migration pain.

Centroid will work with you to:

- 1. Design and architect the future state of your data warehouse in ADWS
- 2. Seamlessly migrate the existing data warehouse from its current location into Oracle ADWS
- 3. Re-integrate the new data warehouse in ADWS, keeping all data sources and applications intact.
