DEVOPS SERVICES

Centroid's engineers know that software runs the world. Our comprehensive suite of DevOps services enables our customers to deliver great software that provides real value.

Centroid has deep expertise and extensive experience in DevOps and Kubernetes. Every one of our software engineers is a full-stack developer who also has experience in Kubernetes Administration. This makes us uniquely positioned to help organizations build and deploy game-changing containerized applications.

DevOps and Software Development

At Centroid, we deliver a full range of DevOps services and solutions that help propel transformative change for our customers. Our team is comprised of full-stack developers who can execute mission-critical DevOps initiatives such as building and automating pipelines to deploy code, run automated tests, or monitor applications. We also are oftentimes tapped by organizations to augment their own development teams, adding additional skills and competencies that are difficult to find.

Kubernetes Administration

Our team also offers deep expertise in Kubernetes. Every one of our team members trains in Kubernetes administration and is comfortable building and supporting containerized applications. Additionally, we have experience building and deploying tools that are tightly related to Kubernetes, such as Prometheus, Cert, Manager, Vault, and Gitlab.

m9sweeper Services

m9sweeper is the only fully open-sourced Kubernetes security framework. Our team helped design, write, and release the m9sweeper project and regularly updates and adds to the project. This makes us leaders in the field of Kubernetes security. We are happy to implement and support m9sweeper for our clients to help them enhance Kubernetes security.
